

Guy Bonneau was a financial director in project management, an instructor in individualized teaching, administrative services director, and controller within various service companies.

His experience led him to a position as an administrator with FADOQ – Québec Chaudière-Appalaches Regions.

Starting as an administrator for the Québec region in 2019, he became president in 2021. On the FADOQ provincial board, he served as treasurer until his election as vice-president in 2024.

Passionate about his mission and actions, he aspires to innovate and build a promising future for FADOQ and its branches.

He is committed to responding to the growing needs of members.
