

Jean-François Hébert is a legal executive and lawyer with more than 30 years of experience advising Canadian and international organizations. He has counselled boards of directors, executive leadership teams, and investors in high-growth environments, through serial acquisitions, and during major organizational transformations. He is widely recognized for his expertise in governance, strategy, compliance, risk management, and value creation.

He notably served as Senior Vice President, Legal Affairs at Previa and as Vice President, Legal Affairs at Unipex Group, two organizations with a global footprint.

Prior to that, he was a partner at Fasken, where he advised clients across a wide range of industries, including technology, cosmetics, video gaming, and telecommunications.

A graduate of Université Laval's Faculty of Law, he also taught at the École du Barreau du Québec and served as a lecturer in the Master of Laws (LL.M.) program at Université Laval.
